

CONTENT

Introduction	9
-------------------------------	----------

Chapter 1

The monuments of the Time of Troubles as a literary cycle.	29
---	-----------

1. The concept of an old Russian literary cycle:
the question of terminology. 29
2. The specifics of texts cycle of the Time of Troubles 40
3. The fatal guilt of tsars and impostors: the origins 50
4. The theme of sin and repentance. 81
5. The feeling of hopelessness 101

Chapter 2

The tragedy of cities as a tragedy of people: cycle in cycle	118
---	------------

1. "An eye of the Russian land":
the portrait of Moscow during the Time of Troubles 121
2. "Going to the throne": Moscow as a symbol of political gravity in the Another Tale. 141
3. The crying of Veliky Novgorod in the Temporary
by Ivan Timofeev 151
4. The image of cities and towns
as the places of exiles and imprisonments
in the Another Tale 161
5. The sacred objects of cities and settlements in the Another Tale and their role in the narrative 162
6. Historically and symbolically determined lists of cities and towns in the Another Tale. 165

7. The warring “right” and “wrong” cities of Siverskyi land (Novhorod-Siverskyi and Kromy) 172

Chapter 3

Genre confrontations: in a search of new forms of imprinting 184

1. Genre originality of the cycle monuments 184
2. Genre mystery of the Pskov annals
On troubles and sorrows and misfortunes. 193
3. On the Tsar's election to the Moscow state and
4. On troubles and sorrows and misfortunes ...
as two independent texts. 239
5. The political legend in historical narratives of the first third of the 17th century 260
6. Tsar's election stories in Filaret's Manuscript as an important ceremony 280
7. The political cries in Filaret's Manuscript 288

Chapter 4

Receptions of the representation of historical events 296

1. Biblical plots as a key to narrative models in the works cycle on the Time of Troubles 296
2. Christian motives in the story of the People's Militia, 1611–1612 in the New Chronicler. 320
3. Naturalism and silence as contrasting principles of events representation (from the hunger tales of 1601–1603). 332
4. Laconicism, religious symbolism and “storyboard”
(on the example of the tales of False Dmitry's I death) 341
5. Realism of murder tales in Filaret's Manuscript 355
6. The political mythologism of miracles stories in Filaret's Manuscript 363

Chapter 5

Methods of representation of historical persons	372
1. Creative discoveries: background	372
2. Biblical images as a means of assessment historical persons.	378
3. The symbols of tsars and impostors according to the Temporary by Ivan Timofeev.	412
4. Gender as a new principle of heroes image in the Temporary by Ivan Timofeev.	454
5. The ornamental and realistic techniques for creating an image in The Tale of Moscow State's Victories . .	465
6. The people's image in The Tale of Moscow State's Victories . . .	487
7. "Wild people" and "good people" in the Pskov annalistic story On confusion and civil strife and retreat Pskov from the Moscow state	496
8. "Non-Heroic" heroes: Kuzma Minin and Prince Dmitry M. Pozharsky in the historical narratives of the first third of the 17 th century	508
Conclusion	526
Sources and Literature	535
Source Index	566
Researcher Name Index	570